

About the Privacy Policy at KPG HOTEL&RESORT

Unless otherwise indicated by the pertinent companies, KPG HOTEL&RESORT and its affiliated companies (As a general rule, this refers to subsidiaries and related companies of Kato Pleasure Group Co., Ltd that are specified on the homepage of Kato Pleasure Group Co., Ltd, but other companies that are specially approved by Kato Pleasure Group Co., Ltd are also included. They are hereinafter referred to as "KPG Group") set forth the "Privacy Policy" as follows regarding the handling of personally identifiable information (Hereinafter referred to as "personal information") of customers and clients that are handled for business and strive to protect it.

About the Obtainment of Personal Information

Our company will obtain personal information through lawful and fair methods.

Observance of Laws and Ordinances

We will observe laws, ordinances, and other regulations related to the handling of personal information and strive to continuously review and improve the content of this privacy policy.

Organization and Structure

Our company will appoint a personal information protection manager and conduct appropriate management of personal information.

Our company will conduct training to executives and employees regarding appropriate methods of protecting and managing personal information to ensure that personal information is handled appropriately in daily tasks.

Drafting, Execution, Maintenance, and Improvement of the Personal Information Protection Compliance Program

In order to carry out this policy, our company will draft a personal information protection compliance program (includes this privacy policy, the "Official Personal Information Protection Regulations," and other regulations), share them with appropriate personnel, execute it thoroughly, maintain it, and continuously improve it.

About the Use of Personal Information

Our company will use personal information within the range of purposes of use presented at the time of obtainment as necessary to execute work.

When jointly using personal information with third parties or entrusting the handling of personal information to third parties, our company will first conduct a careful investigation on the pertinent third parties and then perform appropriate monitoring on the third parties so that they maintain confidentiality.

About the Disclosure and Provision of Personal Information to Third Parties

Excluding the following situations, we will not disclose or provide personal information to third parties without consent from the person in question.

- Disclosing or providing it in a form in which individuals cannot be distinguished (statistical data, etc.)
- Disclosing or providing it to companies entrusted with work within a range necessary for work
- Transferring the business due to a merger, corporate separation, transfer or business, or another reason
- Disclosure or provision is mandated by laws or ordinances

About the Management of Personal Information

Our company will maintain the accuracy of personal information and manage them safely.

In order to prevent the loss, destruction, falsification, or leakage of personal information, our company will take appropriate information security measures against unauthorized access, computer viruses, and other threats.

Our company will not allow any leakage of personal information by extracting it and sending it externally.

About the Disclosure, Correction, and Discontinuation of Use of Personal Information

If the person in question confirms that they have the right to request the disclosure, correction, discontinuation of use, or deletion of their personal information and submits a request, our company will rapidly satisfy the request without objection.
